The President's Message —

Each year it brings me joy and satisfaction to be a part of the college yearbook. First of all, I am reminded of the dedication and the untiring efforts of our fine faculty and staff. I also am reminded of my pleasant association with you students. It is most gratifying to watch you mature socially, academically, and spiritually.

We are justly proud that many of our graduates are successfully filling important positions across our nation and are thereby making worthwhile contributions to their fellowmen and to society. My firm belief is that you, too, will go out to accept the challenge and responsibility that is yours.

Many of the facts learned in college are soon forgotten, but if you have gained direction and a true sense of values, then you will have accomplished much in the great process of education.

Sincere good wishes to you in the years that lie ahead.

Yours sincerely,

R. a. Harbour

President R. A. Harbour

The EMJC family was greatly amplified this year by a large freshman class, newcomers to our fold whom we try to indoctrinate with a philosophy of service to mankind, a philosophy with a genuineness and integrity which we jealously think is peculiar to EMJC.

We at EMJC sincerely believe that the way to a productive life is to be had only through an elevation of the immaterial life. Until this inner vision comes, until this "spark disturbs our clod," there can be no appreciation of the scholar's life, friendship has no sweetness, material increase loses its gloss.

With this in mind the annual staff of 1958-59 happily presents this yearbook to aid you in cherishing memories, and in holding fast to your friendships, those fragile abstractions that improve happiness and abate misery.

Here is your

Lion

SHEILA COVINGTON, editor, who has developed insomnia from trying to develop new ways to do old things.

Dr. Annette P. Crickard, sponsor, who never bosses us but says, "Could we do it this way?"

JERRY BEAVERS, photographer. When it comes to pictures we "leave it to Beavers."

With affectionate regard the annual staff has chosen to honor our band director, Mr. Crago.

Not only has he exhibited interest in the music department, but in the general school welfare as well. It was Mr. Crago who avidly promoted the class in photography which demanded of the students active experience in the photographic laboratory. This addition to the curriculum has been felt in all the avenues of school publicity.

He has generously contributed of his time to present the band in personal appearances throughout eastern Mississippi and western Alabama. Praise has come from these areas extolling our band for its excellence of performance,—its marching precision, its animation, and certainly its music.

We gratefully dedicate this yearbook to

Mr. Gene Crago

Faculty

Our faculty is made up of honest-to-goodness folk who are professional, academic, and humane. These qualities we can observe daily—in professional bearing, in answering our queries about academic discipline, in easy accessibility. We like the way they express a genuine interest in students as personalities rather than just enrollment statistics. We are proud of the generous hospitality they show towards campus visitors. Friendliness of the sort found on our campus has to start with the higher level or it never finds expression in the student body. EMJC is a friendly, hospitable place.

Sophomores

Our sophomore class is smaller than usual this year for Circumstance and Cupid have shot their arrows. But there still remain many strong personalities of this group who have made their particular contribution. They have helped to build a stronger student council, fostered humanitarian enterprises by way of local charities, re-established religious devotionals, and have been all-around good citizens.

Freshmen

This is the largest entering class in many a year and its members began very early to make themselves felt. They invaded the athletic programs, the cheering squad, the band, the singing groups; they won the cup on Stunt Night; they took dramatic honors; they won beauty contests; they were to be found on the honor roll, the newspaper, in the governing body. We are proud of our freshmen. Like the blossoms of the Spring—both of them green and growing—they renew and perpetuate our traditions.

Personalities

In this section we pay special attention to those on campus who stand out,—to those who have made their personalities manifest in some area, or who have contributed to the life and excellence of our school. Talent is like "a dome of many-colored glass" and exhibits itself variously. Here's to those who have achieved eminence!

The E.M.J.C. Marching Band

With the boom of the drums, the swell of the brass, and the prancing of the pretty majorettes
the Band comes down the field—and who is so dead that his blood fails to stir!

Organizations

We owe much of our budding confidence to the problems and victories we meet in our organizations. Be it religious, group, drama, governing body, or a club augmenting a field of study—it helps us in growing up to adult activities. We learn the orderly way to conduct a meeting, how to build a program, and the give and take of respecting another's opinion and being respected in turn. The organizations, in short, represent the student-managed side of college life.

Student Council

SEATED: Jane Fleming, Benn Reese, Steve Wilkerson, President Dick McSpadden, Martha Eldridge, Betty Bounds, Sheila Covington. STANDING: Murray Gibson, Dan Creekmore, Mr. Knight, Mrs. Harbour, Dick Wirth, Laneve Grissom, Shirley Griffin, Frank Kelly.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL has been very busy this year. The council members have conducted all the student elections, sponsored a dance, backed the teams, repaired the flag-pole, and daily raised the flag, handled the basketball tournament, did a beautiful job of campus-wide Christmas decorations, and are currently carrying out a major campus beautification project.

The BSU Greater Council is composed of members of the BSU who work as a planning committee for the group as a whole. This organization strives to bring the Church and Christ closer to the Baptist students and their friends through daily devotionals, Bible studies, and other BSU activities. Director of this group is the Rev. Jack Palmer.

Under the direction of the Rev. Hollis Youngblood, the WESLEY group meets weekly; thus strengthening the spiritual life of the Methodist students on campus. Sending a delegate to the National Student Conference is but one of the many projects this small but active group hopes to accomplish.

THE HARMONETTES

To be a Harmonette is to win one of the most coveted positions. We are proud of this group—they combine beauty with precision of performance.

They are:

Tomzie Crowson, accompanist, Anita Stephens, Rita Rush, Betty Bounds, Laneve Grissom, Sue May, Mary Nell Guy, Kathryn Bennet, Vivian Bagwell, Patricia Dees.

THE SHUTTERBUGS are a real help in speeding publicity pictures and in recording campus "moments to remember." They are not only on the spot to take the picture, but they also rush the pictures through the mysterious processes of the "dark room."

Sheila Covington, Chirley Griffin, Jimmy Cole, Vernon Veazey, Rex Jackson.

DELTA PSI OMEGA is the national honorary fraternity for those who qualify in dramatics. A member must perform, with excellence, a major role in a three-act play, or its equivalent. This year's play was "Ladies in Retirement," a thoughtful chiller-thriller.

Shirley Griffin, president, Sheila Covington, Leland Brown, Rita Rush, Tomzie Crowson, Patricia Dees.

Guyula Jones, Willa Dean Keeton, Bettye McQueen

THE LIBRARY STAFF—is made up of scholarship students who work under Mrs. Williams. Their work is all pleasure for they have the opportunity to learn more about “the wonderful world of books” than most of us do.

W.S.G.A.

The Women's Student Government Association is made up of resident freshmen and sophomore girls who are chosen by ballot to the job of governing dormitory women, along with Dean Anderson. The male contingent will not soon forget that this year the dormitory girls gave a lovely evening party just for the on-campus men.

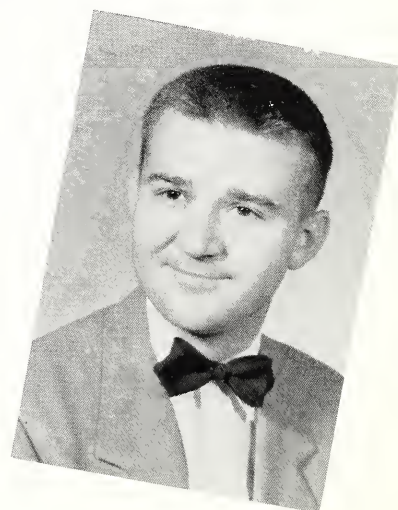

Shirley Griffin, Anita Stephens,
Dean Anderson, Laneve Grissom.

THE CONCERT BAND

The Concert Band takes up where the Marching Band leaves off: It fills numerous engagements within the area, and gives a Spring Concert at home.

THE CRAGO HONOR SOCIETY

Named for its founder, it is composed of students honored for their excellent performance in the school band. Invitation of membership is based on academic standing, instrumental performance, and faithful interest in the general musical program.

PHI THETA KAPPA is a recognized honorary scholarship society whose object is to promote character and to cultivate fellowship among students of both sexes in the junior colleges of the United States. Election to PTK places a particular stamp of merit upon the student for after he has passed the academic hurdle he still must pass a faculty committee as a basis of character.
